Data General Names New Board Member

Dr. John Francis Lubin, professor of management at The Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania, has been elected to Data General's Board of Directors.

Dr. Lubin, who has an extensive background in computer technology and management, has been associated with the University of Pennsylvania since 1961. He has been associate dean of The Wharton School; chairman of the department of Management; faculty member in the schools of Engineering, the Computer and Information Sciences Program, and the Graduate Group in Operations Research; and director of Computing Activities for the university. In 1963 and 1964, he was on the faculty of the Graduate School of Business at Stanford University.

Outside of the University, Dr. Lubin is currently active as a member of the board of directors of SPS Technologies in Jenkintown, Pennsylvania and a member of the board of U.S. Industries, Inc. of New York. He was formerly on the boards of Leeds and Northrup Corporation, Auerbach Corporation and Simulation Associates, Inc.

Dr. Lubin served on the U.S. team in the US-USSR Joint Working Group in the Application of Computers to Management and was principal investigator in a project exploring the education of top managers in the United States and the Soviet Union in the use of computers in management.

He is a former chairman of the College for Planning of the Institute of Management Sciences and was editor-in-chief of COMPUTING REVIEWS, the journal of the Association for Computing Machinery from 1967 to 1969. Dr. Lubin has also served as a consultant to organizations such as the U.S. Air Force, U.S. Navy, the Auerbach Corporation, General Electric and Westinghouse.

Dr. Lubin received a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering from New York University; a master's in industrial management from MIT, and his doctorate in economics from the University of Pennsylvania.

Price And Portion Consistency In Food At All Facilities

Data General has established portion and price consistency for all food, beverage and vending services at facilities in New England. Beginning Monday, November 21, prices will be the same for similar items and portions at all locations.

This change will result in some minor food price increases at Data General's Westboro cafeteria. In Massachusetts, some price decreases will occur at Southboro and Milford cafeterias as well as at Dee Gee's (the Westboro Deli).

Beverage Prices Set at 20-Cents

The cost of coffee and soda at cafeterias and from vending machines at all of Data General's New England locations will be 20-cents beginning Monday, November 21. Most other beverages including milk, tea and larger size coffee and soda will also increase five-cents in cost at most locations. The result will be uniform beverage prices.

Next Issue: December 2

The cost of beverages at Data General facilities is among the lowest of any area companies and it is the company's intention that prices remain below other companies.

MV/Family System Introduced For OEMs

The ECLIPSE MV/8000 C computer is a compact package with the power of the larger ECLIPSE MV/8000 II computer system.

Data General has introduced the computer industry's first 32-bit computer based on high density 256K-bit dynamic random access memory (DRAM) technology.

The new ECLIPSE MV/8000 C computer has the power of the larger ECLIPSE MV/8000 II system, but is packaged as a compact 10 1/2 inch-high rack-mountable system for the original equipment manufacturer (OEM) and system integrator market.

"The MV/8000 C is a true OEM computer," says Tecnhical Products Division (TPD) Vice President Don McDougall. "It represents the first time a computer priced at the level of the MV/8000 C and offering 1.26 million-Whetstones performance has been available in a package compact enough to be rack mounted with other system components."
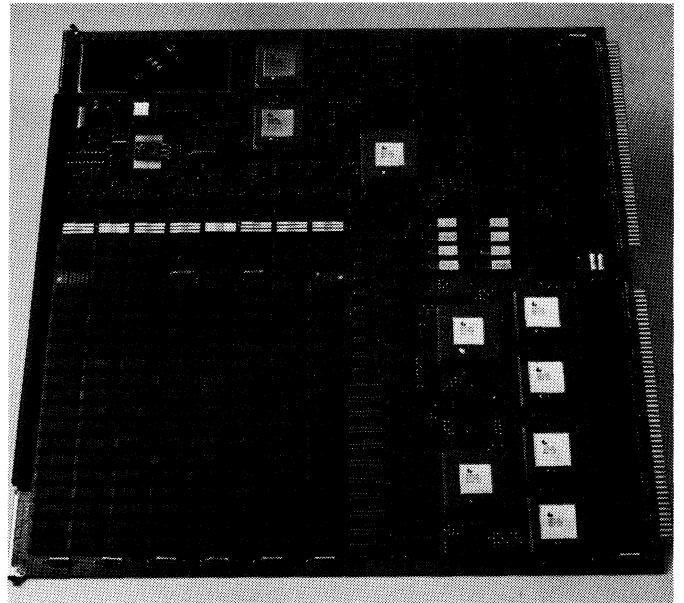

The new system, with 1MB of main memory, costs $55,500.

The use of high density 2,000-gate gate arrays and 256K-bit DRAM components led to the reduction in the physical size of the computer when compared to other ECLIPSE MV/Family computers. On previous 32-bit superminis, the memory bank controller, system cache and 4MB of main memory occupied four slots in the chassis. The gate arrays and 256K-bit chips combine all those functions on a single printed circuit board.

The new design was the result of a collaborative effort between engineers in the Systems Development Division's Central Processor Development group and Nippon•Data General.

The ECLIPSE MV/8000 C computer, which supports up to 128 users, will be used in applications that require high performance. It will be used to to monitor and control continuous industrial processes; in industrial laboratory applications; and as a host system in a distributed systems network.

The computer, which runs under the Advanced Operating System/Virtual Storage (AOS/VS) and RT/32 operating systems, is compatible with other 16- and 32-bit ECLIPSE systems.

The ECLIPSE MV/8000 C uses advanced components to reduce board size, making it suitable for OEM systems integrators.

RDOS Programs Can Be Written For ECLIPSE MV/Family Systems

A software package that lets Data General NOVA and 16-bit ECLIPSE RDOS operating system users write their programs on more powerful ECLIPSE MV/Family computers has been introduced by Data General. With RDOS AGENT the 16-bit RDOS operating system environment can be emulated on 32-bit systems running the Advanced Operating System/Virtual Storage (AOS/VS) operating system.

RDOS AGENT allows original equipment manufacturers (OEM) or systems houses, whose applications run under RDOS, to either develop software using ECLIPSE MV/Family program development tools or develop 32-bit applications on the same ECLIPSE MV/Family system.

"Software development and maintenance costs are a major concern for OEMs," says Technical Products Division (TPD) Vice President Don

McDougall. "By providing OEMs access to the AOS/VS environment, they will be able to develop RDOS software for their 16-bit NOVA, ECLIPSE and DESKTOP GENERATION systems more quickly and less expensively."

RDOS AGENT allows 16-bit computer users, who are upgrading to 32-bit systems, to immediately get their applications running on the new system. They can use this approach as an interim solution to keep the application running while it is being converted to take advantage of the 32-bit system's greater performance.

New MV/Family Software Packages Available

Three new ECLIPSE MV/Family application packages are available from third-party vendors participating in Data General's Independent Software Vendor (ISV) program.

These packages are:

• RAPPORT® from Logica, New York. -- A portable database management system (DBMS) package that combines the relational approach to data management with the high performance needed for large production applications. Price ranges from $15,000 to $57,000.

• Computer Modeling System (CMS) from Computer Modeling Ltd., Framingham. -- A comprehensive decision support system that lets managers develop computer-based, menu-driven applications offering unlimited model size, formatted screens, report generation, business graphics, multi-currency hierarchical consolidation, a comprehensive HELP facility and a complete on-screen tutorial. Price ranges from $1,750 to $8,950.

• SIR Database Software System from Scientific Information Retrieval (SIR), Inc., Evanston, Illinios. -- The SIR Database Software System consists of: SIR/DBMS, a high performance relational database management system designed for business research data analysis; SIR/HOST, a direct interface between SIR/DBMS database and programs written in FORYRAN or some other host languages; SIR/FORMS, an integrated forms language for screen-oriented data entry and directly interfaces with SIR/DBMS and major statistical packages (BMDP, P-STAT, SAS and SPSS) and generates camera ready tabular displays; Queries are accomplished with SIR/SQL, plus an enhanced version of IBM's relational structured query language (SQL). Price ranges from $20,000 to $50,000.

All these software systems will operate on Data General's 32-bit ECLIPSE MV/Family Systems with Advanced Operating System/Virtual Storage (AOS/VS) and will be marketed by the vendor through the Data General Independent Software Vendor (ISV) program. Full support and documentation will be available from each individual software vendor.

BayBanks Joins National Automated Teller Network

Data General employees who are BayBanks card holders now have access to their accounts at automated tellers located throughout the United States.

BayBanks has linked its X-Press 24 system to CIRRUS, a national automated teller network that currently includes more than 2,550 machines in 23 states. By the end of 1985, the network will grow to 8,000 machines coast to coast.

No special automated teller cards are needed to take advantage of the network. All BayBanks cardholders have automatic access to any activated CIRRUS machine to make cash withdrawals from checking, NOW or savings accounts, conduct balance inquiries and obtain cash advances from a BayBanks VISA or MasterCard.

STOP For Safety

There's two-way traffic these days at the front entrance to Data General-Westboro as construction has begun on the Howard Johnson's Hotel. In the weeks and months to come, traffic can be expected to increase.

Stop signs have been installed on Data General roadways meeting Computer Drive at both 4400 and 2400 Computer Drive. Employees must stop before entering Computer Drive.

Employees also should note that Computer Drive is now marked for four travel lanes, two in each direction, for the entire length. Choosing the proper lane and maintaining a moderate speed can make your travel easier as well as that of other employees.

Cafeteria Open For Evening Meals

The Westboro cafeteria is now open Monday through Thursday evenings from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. Hot and cold sandwiches will be available during that time.

A GENERATION AHEAD, YOU WON'T BE A PRISONER OF YOUR IN-BOX.

DATA GENERAL INTEGRATED OFFICE AUTOMATION.

Burying information under a ton of mail at the bottom of your in-box is not the best way to get it when it's critical to a decision.

ELECTRONIC MAIL

With Data General's CEO® Comprehensive Electronic Office, information is delivered electronically. Instantly. Unerringly.

It includes a "certified mail" feature that lets you confirm that it has been seen by the intended party. And an "urgent" signal that flags important messages.

But that's only the beginning.

TOTAL OFFICE AUTOMATION

The CEO system automates just about everything in your office. CEO electronic filing files the way you do. Its electronic calendar keeps tabs on trips, appointments, and meetings —even confirming them all.

Of course, CEO includes easy-to-use word processing. And all this is integrated with data processing for total decision support.

CEO even has an exclusive button that lets you handle typical interruptions, and returns automatically to where you left off.

DON'T DUMP YOUR EXISTING EQUIPMENT

Best of all, instead of having to dump your existing equipment to automate your office, you can build the CEO system around it.

Because it not only ties in with other Data General computers, but it also ties in with the most widely-used mainframe and word processor.

Instead of just a series of personal computers, each CEO workstation becomes part of a global network, with access to data from IBM mainframes.
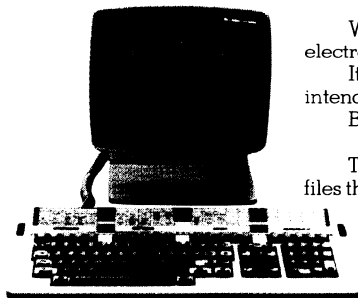

Now that's protecting your investment.

AS LITTLE AS $5,000 A WORKSTATION

And with the CEO system, the cost per workstation can be as low as $5,000, depending on application.
