Data General Reduces Hospital Costs

Data General President Ed de Castro (second from right) formally donated an ECLIPSE MV/8000 II computer system and associated peripherals to the Framingham Union Hospital last week. The computer system, valued at $250,000, is helping to improve the quality of health care as it reduces cost and time spent in providing patient services. Hospital officials accepting the donation were (left to right) Chief Operating Officer J. Merritt Brown, Information Systems Director Bob Boer and Framingham Union Hospital President Ed Clasby.

dBASE III, Framework Software Now Available

Data General announced Monday that Ashton-Tate's dBASE III and Framework software are now available on 3 1/2-inch diskettes for use on the DATA GENERAL/One portable personal computer.

dBASE III is a command-driven, relational database management system that creates full business systems tailored to the specific needs of the user. Framework is a multi-function productivity software package that combines word processing, spreadsheet, database, graphics and telecommunications capabilities in one integrated system. Both software packages operate in the MS-DOS environment.

"Ashton-Tate is looking forward to a long-term, strategic alliance with Data General," says Carl Gritzmaker, vice president of sales at Ashton-Tate. "We feel that the DATA GENERAL/One is a significant, new machine that is an indicator of the future of personal computers. As executives become more mobile, it is increasingly important to have computers available at all locations, and that is now possible with machines like the DATA GENERAL/One."

Distribution will be through Data General's dealer and direct sales channels, as well as through the company's value-added resellers. In addition to dBASE III and Framework, Data General also distributes Ashton-Tate's dBASE II and Friday! software. There are presently more than 150 third-party software application packages available for the DATA GENERAL/One on 3 1/2-inch diskettes.

"Company Profile" Publication Available

As a service to investors, financial analysts, customers, employees and others interested in the company, Data General has published a "Company Profile." The new publication contains a summary of the company's products, description of its markets, organizational data, a listing of facilities, developments from the most recent quarter, and detailed statistical data starting from FY '70, with quarterly data for the most recent three fiscal years.

The Company Profile will be published quarterly and distributed via MAPS to Data General Sales representatives. Copies may be bulk ordered from Southboro Building 5 by ordering Form no. 012-2632.

Sign Up For FNMAIL Training Sessions

Corporate Telecommunications is implementing a new electronic mail system (FNMAIL) for sending and receiving telex and TWX messages. FNMAIL is also replacing TWXIT, which will be phased out in the near future.

Training for Westboro users is now being scheduled. Employees who use the Message Center or TWXIT should plan to attend a one-hour training session. Anyone interested should send name, department and extension via CEO to GRAPHNET:MSIS03. You will be notified of dates and times for training.

Artificial Intelligence And Expert Systems Seminar

A one-day seminar on "Artificial Intelligence and Expert Systems" will be held Monday, April 8 at Data General-Woodstock. Sponsored by Field Engineering, the seminar is designed for employees involved in design and development.

Sign-ups will be accepted until Wednesday, April 3. Manager's approval is necessary and $75 per employee will be charged back to the department. For further information and reservations, contact Robert Dourandish at Westboro extension 3840 or via CEO at DOURANDI R:FE1K28.

Weekly On-line Product And Marketing Newsbriefs

To increase corporate awareness of the many product and marketing resources available, competitive product and marketing newsbriefs will soon be available online, through the Corporate Library in Westboro. Weekly newsbriefs will consist of content headlines from marketing newsletters, press releases, marketing services publications, and update materials from continuous information services received during the previous week.

Distribution will be sent to the CEO Comprehensive Electronic Office or systems manager of each product and marketing group. The manager will place the document into a public drawer where it can be accessed by everyone on that system.

Any group interested in subscribing to the weekly newsbrief should notify the CEO or systems manager, who, in turn, should call the library at extension 6441 for more details.

New Schedule For Helicopter Service

Data General helicopter service will operate on a new schedule as of Monday, April 1. The service is open to all employees who have business to conduct within the New England Manufacturing plants. Reservations for helicopter service can be made by calling 232-HELI (232-4354). Passengers must be at the helistop five minutes before scheduled departure time for loading and safety briefing. Unless delayed by weather conditions, flights will depart on time.

In addition to employees, the helicopter can be used to transport mail and other critical parts between sites. Whenever material is needed to be shipped via the helicopter arrangements can be made by contacting Corporate Travel.

Both Westboro and Southboro employees will use the helistop at Southboro at the present time. Westboro employees are encouraged to park their cars in Southboro or to use the shuttle service. The shuttle service schedule coincides with helicopter departure and arrival times.

The Southboro helistop is located in the parking area on the north (Route 9) side of Building 5, across the street from Building 4's main entrance. Helistops are located in the parking lots across from main entrances at Westbrook and Portsmouth.

Flights will be conducted Mondays through Fridays at the newly-scheduled times:

Applications Software Contents Doubled

A broad range of offerings appear in the new edition of Data General's Technical Applications Software catalog.

Last year, Data General's Technical Applications Software Catalog contained almost 300 software applications for scientific, industrial and technical use on the ECLIPSE MV/Family of computers. The second edition, the Scientific and Industrial Applications Software Catalog, has nearly doubled in size. It offers an even broader range of software covering applications in Manufacturing/Industrial Control, Mechanical Engineering, Architectural Engineering and Construction, Electronic Engineering, Energy Engineering, Engineering Management and Analysis, and Engineering Utilities.

This new publication, to be released next month, provides fast, simple access to the information needed to evaluate individual applications regarding technical requirements. It provides you with an index by industry, as well as by application and software title. University discount pricing information also has been included.

Bulk shipments of the Scientific and Industrial Applications Software Catalog (012-2110-2) can be ordered from Southboro for distribution to prospects and customers.

Call extension 5318 in Westboro for information pertaining to the catalog, software and contact information.

Appointments In Manufacturing Human Resources

During Del's absence from Data General-Clayton, Judy Irwin, Personnel section manager, will serve as Personnel manager.

Jim McCaffrey, formerly Personnel manager at Portsmouth, joins Corporate Human Resources at Westboro as project manager, reporting to Guy Carter.

Manhattan Beach Library Receives $1,000 Donation

Data General has announced a $1,000 grant to the City of Manhattan Beach Public Library for the purchase of computer-related books.

"The grant will help the library meet the growing patron interest in computer-related subjects," says Boyd Pearce, area manager at Data General's Western Area headquarters in Manhattan Beach. "Choices will be made by the library staff," says Boyd.

Data General recently donated an ECLIPSE MV/4000 computer to Mira Costa High School in Manhattan Beach.
